General:

All nominations may be made by any individual AAHC member, any AAHC member organization and by any AAHC Board member.

Current members of the Board of Directors for the Council cannot be considered for an award.

The Council will grant a maximum of three local awards. The Committee has the option to not award an Out-of-Town award, but in no case will it award more than one in this category.

The definitions of Arts & Humanities are as follows: Arts: music, visual arts, theater, dance, and creative writing. Humanities include: history, philosophy, languages, linguistics, the study of literature, archeology, anthropology, ethics, jurisprudence, comparative religions or history, theory and criticism of the creative or performing arts.

Local Award Criteria:

Nominees must be residents of the local area who have attained recognition and acclaim or have served long and faithfully in the Arts and/ or in the Humanities. Nominees will be considered based on their dedication, the breadth or depth of their involvement, the uniqueness of their contribution, and impact of their contribution on others. Nominees may be professional or volunteer. Professionals will be judged for contributing to the Arts and Humanities beyond that for which they receive pay.

Professional Award / "Builder of Stars"

Nominees must be residents of the local area. Nominees must be professionals in a particular area of the Arts and Humanities who have attained recognition and acclaim and have helped others develop their talents, potentials or abilities in the Arts and Humanities. Consideration is based on their dedication, the breadth or depth of their involvement, the uniqueness of their contribution and the impact of their contribution on others. The goal of this award is to recognize the many people whose profession is in the Arts & Humanities who have helped others, young or old, become interested in or excited about a particular art and/or humanities discipline.

Out-of-Town Award Criteria:

Nominees shall be former residents of the local area and can be nominated as either volunteers or professionals.
