

Allied Arts Scholarship Winners

2010-2011

Each year the AAHC presents scholarships to students who have excelled in the arts and humanities. Students must be actively involved in some area of the arts and/or humanities, demonstrate some contribution of his/her talents to the community, and must plan to pursue studies or work in the field in which nominated.

The Allied Arts and Humanities Council of Bartlesville presented $300 scholarships this year to four deserving seniors. 3 are BHS graduates and one is a Home school graduate. This year's winners excelled in all three requirements as they have each excelled in the arts in the classroom, have shared their talent with their community and have plans to continue their education in the field in which they have been nominated.

This year's winners are:

EDWARD BASS – Nominated by Susan Crabtree, Edward is a very accomplished actor and director with an impressive resume. He has been involved in other community orgs and intends to attend Chapman University majoring in theater arts and directing.

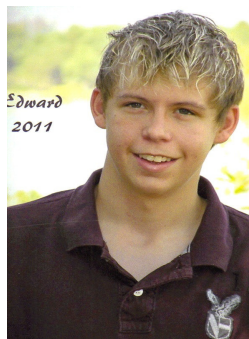

ERIC BARNES – Nominated by Wesley Singleton. Eric is a highly accomplished instrumentalist (trombone, hand bells and flute) as well as being a choir member. He has received State, Regional, and Local awards for his many skills. He has been a band member, drum major, orchestra, and Jazz Band member. Eric has been accepted into the music education program at OU.

SARAH GORE -- Nominated by Jonathan Stuart of OK Wesleyan. Sarah is a highly accomplished violinist (Suzuki since 4 yrs old) and also a vocalist. She has written and performed vocals of her original songs to make a CD. She has been involved in several community service type programs although being a home schooled. She will be attending OK Baptist U majoring in music education.

SHILOH PURKEY – Nominated by Susan Crabtree, Shiloh has been involved in acting, stagecraft, orchestra, choir and competitive forensics! Her list of high school achievements in these areas is highly impressive. She has received gold medals at State, District and local competitions. Shiloh plans to attend the University of Tulsa this fall majoring in Theatre.

Sarah Gore

Edward Bass

Eric Barnes